

VALPARAÍSO, VIÑA DEL MAR Y CASABLANCA EXPERIENCE

Full day tour

Get to know the Chilean coast in all its splendor in what is probably one of the most complete outings: wine, countryside, world heritage, typical cuisine and Chilean sea. After going through the beautiful valley of Curacaví, we arrive at the young, but world-known Casablanca Valley, where we will enjoy a tasting of their best wines... we guarantee that you will not be indifferent to this experience. We will then head to Viña del Mar, known as the "garden city" for its beautiful parks and fully-flowered streets. Shortly after, we'll continue our journey to the Port of Valparaíso, where you will live the city as it should: hoping on its centenary elevators, walking through its narrow streets and its almost organic stairs that follow the geography of this natural amphitheater. Declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO, Valparaíso hides the best cultural and gastronomic treasures, and to which you can enjoy them first hand and in your own pace. Rely on our specialized guides that will take you to Valparaíso, Viña del Mar and Casablanca Experience.

lonely planet Valparaíso

Lonely Planet – Valparaíso: "Syncopated, dilapidated, colorful and poetic, Valparaíso is a wonderful mess. Pablo Neruda, who drew much inspiration from this hard-working port town, said it best: 'Valparaíso, how absurd you are...you haven't combed your hair, you've never had time to get dressed, life has always surprised you.'

Servitour

MicheleGyotaku from Tokio, Japan wrote: We were visiting Santiago and had originally booked a hotel for one night in Valparaíso. Upon reflexion, we realized that it would make more sense to just take a day trip and our concierge recommended Servitour. We had a fantastic tour with Franco as a guide and Marco as a driver. We visited a winery, then spent several hours exploring Valparaíso with our pleasant and knowledgeable Servitour team. We could have done without Viña del Mar but that was mercifully short.

One caveat: paying for the tour was really a song and dance. Servitour should modernize and accept PayPal or a credit cardfor payment, using a simple interface!!!
